Fireweed's Good Work.

Fireweed, otherwise known as the "great willow-herb," seems to have been created as an antidote for one of the ugliest sights a landscape may offer—burnt-over ground. The fireweed is a genuine cosmopolitan, for it sends its consoling shaft above the ashes of burnt forests not only throughout America but in Europe and Asia.

"George Washington was de father of his country," said Uncle Eben; "an' he ain't de only father whose folks got to thinkin' dey knowed wot dan he did."

Your B-B Gun.

Inexpensive toys are often well made, but never proof against wear, and hard usage, and all shooting weapons are subject to the latter. Most frequently the trigger fails to hold the spring plunger when the action is levered and in this case the catch has worn round. Simply unscrew the bolt on which the trigger piece pivots and file the catch sharp on the back, being careful to keep the angle the same. The plunger catch rarely wears down, but when it does get a new gun.

GIRLS EXCEL IN SPELLING

Boys Take Second Place in Schools Where Competitive Examinations Have Been Held.

Complete tabulated returns of the state-wide spelling contests in which State Commissioner Finley was so much interested show that in the 10,500 schools where "bees" were held, the girls showed generally the greater proficiency in spelling, and that of the silver medals awarded to county champions only 30 per cent go to boys. The original plan was to give each of these county winners a free trip to the state fair at Syracuse, but the infantile paralysis scare interfered.

Why girls are better spellers than boys might make a good subject for a monograph. It is a pretty commonly accepted theory that a good speller is born, not made. Which means, perhaps, that visual memory is an inherited faculty, capable, it may be, of development, but only within a limit fixed by the brain of the pupil. Logic helps very little, almost none at all, till after study of Greek and Latin and French has forced attention on the origin of words. The boy or girl or man or woman who most rarely mis-spells a word is fortunate rather than admirable. The memory visualizes the printed form which reading has made familiar. And this was the secret of the way our grandmothers and grandfathers got a mastery over the old blue spelling book. Doubtless the pre-Froebel "Webster" book, like all other books used for the purpose, helped visualization by concentrating attention.

We are inclined to believe that the average school girl reads more than the average school boy. After school the boy's interests are outside interests. He is fishing or skating or playing ball. We would not have him otherwise for all the spelling in the world. After all, the learning of things is better than the learning of symbols, and words are nothing but symbols. They aid in writing and in speaking. But in the education that leads up to doing things one hour in mathematics or chemistry is worth more than a hundred hours of spelling.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Constipation Makes You Dull.

That draggy, listless, oppressed feeling generally results from constipation. The intestines are clogged and the blood becomes poisoned. Relieve this condition at once with Dr. King's New Life Pills; this gentle, non-gripping laxative is quickly effective. A dose at bedtime will make you feel brighter in the morning. Musk Radioactive.

It has been recently determined that the penetrating quality of musk is due to certain radioactive properties which it possesses that cause odor of the perfume to be carried through the air in an extraordinary way, says the Indianapolis News. The radioactive property of musk affects strangely the natives who carry it to market. If a package of musk is held close to the body for any length of time it produces sores that are similar in character to those caused by pure radium.

Putting It Formally.

The four-year-old had just been re-proved at the table. He continued to talk cheerfully, though unresponsive, to father. After some minutes of soliloquy he turned to mother and remarked: "Your husband doesn't talk very much this noon, does he, mother?"—Harper's Magazine.

IS PATRON SAINT OF BIRDS

Squirrels Depend on Asylum Inmate for Their Supply of Butternuts in Winter.

"The patron saint of birds and squirrels" is happy. And though he is sixty years old and has been a patient of the state hospital for the feeble-minded for 30 years, his hair is brown and wavy, his eyes are bright and sparkling and his health is good. He has been in the institution more than half of his life, but his life seems to be more sane than the lives of the thousands who have outstripped him in the life race—and have become wrinkle-cheeked, blear-eyed and hard-fisted.

Albert Gentile has forgotten the world, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. He was entered in the hospital in 1890 because he loved the small animals and food of the forests. He has been there since, spending most of his time gathering nuts or communing with nature, never expressing the slightest desire to get back to the outside world. "Last year I picked 27,500 butternuts for my squirrels," he said. "I need just that many to feed them all. They get so hungry in the winter time. I make so many of them happy. I must be here always to care for them."

He said it quietly, with dignity. Imaginatively he somehow emerged from the character of an old simpleton, clothed in an absurd, rusty frock coat, trousers of another day and general appearance of Washington Irving's schoolmaster and became the sanctified keeper of a great trust. What was more important than caring for those little animals?

"Most people do not know how important it is that we should always think of the tiny bits of life that God has put on this earth," he said slowly. "Often they do not think of each other."

MOST POTENT OF WEAPONS

Nothing Devised by Humanity Is Able to Stand Against the Assault of Laughter.

In "The Mysterious Stranger"—the just-published posthumous book by Mark Twain—that authority on humor declared that most men possess only "a mongrel perception of humor."

He elaborates his idea by saying: "The multitude see the comic side of a thousand low-grade and trivial things—broad incongruities mainly; grotesqueries, absurdities, evokers of the horse laugh. The 10,000 high-grade comicities which exist in the world are sealed from their full vision."

"Will a day come when the race will detect the funniness of these juvenilities and laugh at them—and by laughing at them destroy them? For your race, in its poverty, has unquestionably one really effective weapon—laughter."

"Power, money, persuasion, supplication, persecution—these can lift at a colossal humbug—push it a little—weakens it a little, century by century; but only laughter can blow it to rags and atoms at a blast. Against the assault of laughter nothing can stand."

Europe's Largest Dam.

The largest dam in Europe has just been completed near Barcelona, Spain. It is built across the chasm through which the Noguera Pallaresa river flowed. Abutting on almost perpendicular cliffs, the dam is constructed of concrete, and measures 330 feet in height and 700 feet in length. The thickness is 230 feet at the base, gradually decreasing to 14 feet at the top. The valley above the dam was bought from the various landholders at a cost of near $1,000,000, and now filled with water forms an artificial lake 15 1/2 miles long and 3 1/4 miles wide. The water that now passes through the power house yields an electric current of 20,000 horse power. Later it will be increased to 40,000 horse power. The water is carried by a system of canals into an arid district, where it irrigates a surface of nearly 100 square miles.

Peculiar Disease of the Teeth.

The Colorado Dental society has two of its members engaged in the investigation of a mysterious malady of the teeth known, for the want of a better name, as "mottled teeth," which occurs in this country in a number of districts, principally in the southwestern portion of the United States. It has been noted in a somewhat more violent form in Italy, 15 years ago. It manifests itself in children and persists through life, and is often so disfiguring that the victims resort to artificial crowning. It is a defect of the enamel-forming substance, and it is suspected that the cause is due to some element in the drinking water, which it has been impossible to definitely determine.

Re-educating the Maimed.

Among the mechanical devices for re-educating the maimed or crippled limbs of soldiers that are now being used in the French hospitals are bicycles for the arms and legs, machines for exercising the fingers and wrists, for making supple the tendons of the forearm, for intensifying the sense of touch in the blind, for giving practice in manipulating artificial arms and legs, besides many varieties of artificial hands specially designed for operating typewriters and tools of several kinds.—New York World.
